

Pain Caused By Silence

Words slur drunkenly from your digital lips,
Time stands still as my mind races back.
Comfort I sought became the misery I'd feared,
Confidence and clarity were attributes I lacked.

You reached for my heart but my brain was struck,
Two minds running parallel in opposite directions.
My heart skips a beat as your words pierce it swiftly,
My head is consumed with the inward reflection.

The screen stings my eyes and bruises my soul,
The cold metal touch of a warm blooded feeling.
The mixed up emotions are screamed out in silence,
The pain's an addition to my everyday being.

Why didn't you tell me that I had so much power?
I'd have asked for a refund and kept my best friend.
Do you want me to cry or hide black in the darkness?
I'd give you the heavens though the stars are pretend.

So is this the end? I await in my frail shell
For an answer I'll cherish though unlikely receive.
This is your gift and your weapon of torture,
I give it you freely as my mind feels you leave.